1. POSITIONING STRATEGY

Based on market intelligence: ZERO competitors running Facebook ads for pre-construction visualization services. This is a blue ocean. The positioning below exploits this gap.

Universal Rendimension Position: "We don't make pretty pictures. We build the sales tool that pre-sells your project before you pour concrete."

CAMPAIGN PRIORITY ORDER

PRIORITY	SEGMENT	WHY	EST. PROJECT VALUE
#1	Real Estate Developers	Highest volume, clearest pain, fastest close	$8K - $50K
#2	Hospitality/Resort	Highest ticket, investor urgency	$15K - $80K
#3	Commercial/Retail Chains	Repeat business, multi-location scale	$5K - $25K per location

2. THREE HOOK CONCEPTS

Each hook targets a different emotional trigger. We test all 3 with $3/day each for 14 days, then kill the losers and scale the winner.

HOOK	ANGLE	EMOTIONAL TRIGGER	FORMATS
Hook 1: "SELL BEFORE YOU BUILD"	Pre-sales acceleration. Show the before/after of an empty lot to sold units.	FEAR of carrying costs and unsold inventory	2 single image + 1 carousel = 3 ads
Hook 2: "SEE IT BEFORE YOU RISK IT"	Risk reduction. Visualize to verify before committing millions.	ANXIETY about costly mistakes and rework	2 single image + 1 carousel = 3 ads
Hook 3: "YOUR COMPETITOR ALREADY DID THIS"	Competitive urgency. Others are winning deals you're losing.	FOMO and competitive pressure	2 single image + 1 carousel = 3 ads

TESTING PROTOCOL: $3/day per hook x 14 days = $126 total test. After 14 days: kill lowest CTR hook, redistribute budget to top 2. After 21 days: winner gets full $9/day.

3. THE 9 ADS ■■■ COMPLETE COPY + VISUAL PROMPTS

Each ad is production-ready. Copy the primary text, generate the visual with the Nano Banana prompt, and load into Facebook Ads Manager.

HOOK 1: "SELL BEFORE YOU BUILD"

AD #1 | HOOK 1: "SELL BEFORE YOU BUILD" | SINGLE IMAGE

Ad Name: `rendimension_meta_sellbeforeyoubuild_singleimage_A`

PRIMARY TEXT (above the image):

60% pre-sold before groundbreaking.

That's what happens when buyers can walk through your building before it exists.

Most developers wait until construction is 50% done to start selling. By then, they've been bleeding carrying costs for months.

The ones closing faster? They're using photorealistic visualization to let buyers experience the finished product NOW.

Empty lot ■■■ Stunning render ■■■ Buyer deposits ■■■ Construction funded.

Stop selling blueprints. Start selling experiences.

HEADLINE (below the image, bold):

Pre-Sell Your Project Before You Pour Concrete

DESCRIPTION (below headline, gray):

Photorealistic 3D visualization that turns empty lots into buyer deposits.

CTA BUTTON: Learn More

VISUAL DIRECTION:

Split composition: LEFT side shows a real empty lot/construction site (raw, dirt, fences). RIGHT side shows the same angle but as a stunning photorealistic render of a finished luxury condo tower with landscaping, people, and warm sunset lighting. A visible dividing line between the two halves. Clean, cinematic, no text overlay on image.

NANO BANANA PROMPT (copy-paste to generate):

Photorealistic architectural visualization, split-screen composition. Left half: empty construction lot with dirt, chain-link fence, raw terrain, overcast sky. Right half: same camera angle showing a completed luxury 15-story residential tower with glass facades, landscaped gardens, palm trees, people walking, warm golden hour sunset lighting. Sharp vertical dividing line between the two halves. Ultra-realistic, 8K quality, architectural photography style. Aspect ratio 1:1, 1080x1080px.

AD #2 | HOOK 1: "SELL BEFORE YOU BUILD" | SINGLE IMAGE

Ad Name: `rendimension_meta_sellbeforeyoubuild_singleimage_B`

A developer in Texas closed $4.2M in pre-sales with nothing but a 3D walkthrough and a sales center.

No finished building. No model unit. No construction photos.

Just a photorealistic visualization so real that buyers said: "When can we move in?"

If you're still selling off floor plans and elevation drawings, you're leaving millions in pre-sales on the table.

The building doesn't need to exist for people to buy it. It just needs to FEEL real.

HEADLINE (below the image, bold):

Your Building Doesn't Need to Exist to Start Selling

DESCRIPTION (below headline, gray):

3D visualization so real, buyers ask when they can move in.

CTA BUTTON: Get Started

VISUAL DIRECTION:

Photorealistic render of a modern luxury sales center/showroom interior. Large screens on walls showing building renders. A sales agent pointing at a display board with unit layouts. Several well-dressed buyers examining the display. Some units on the board marked as "RESERVED" with red stickers. Modern, warm lighting, sleek furniture. The feeling of success and momentum.

A $2.3M mistake.

That's what a hotel developer in Florida spent fixing design decisions that "looked fine on paper."

The lobby felt cramped. The pool area had no shade after 2pm. The guest rooms had zero ocean view from 40% of units.

All things that would've been obvious in a 3D walkthrough. All things that cost millions to fix after concrete was poured.

You can't un-pour concrete. But you CAN walk through your building before it exists.

See every angle. Test every decision. Fix every problem. BEFORE the first dollar of construction.

What if you could walk through every room, test every layout, and verify every design decision...

BEFORE spending a single dollar on construction?

That's not future tech. That's what developers are doing right now.

Photorealistic 3D visualization lets you:

- Catch design flaws before they become change orders
- Get investor approval in one meeting, not five
- Pre-sell units to buyers who "need to see it first"
- Align your entire team on the vision

Construction is irreversible. Your visualization doesn't have to be.

Two video ads using HeyGen avatars. These can run as Reels or Stories. Generate after testing the static ads â■■ add them in Week 3 if statics show promise.

VIDEO AD 1: "The $2M Mistake" (30 seconds)

TIMING	VISUAL	SCRIPT (AVATAR SPEAKS)
0-5s	Avatar appears, concerned face. Construction site B-roll behind.	"A hotel developer spent $2.3 million fixing design mistakes that looked fine on paper."
5-12s	Blueprint transitions to 3D render (screen recording or B-roll).	"The lobby was too small. The pool had no shade after 2pm. Forty percent of rooms had no ocean view."
12-20s	VR headset walkthrough footage or immersive 3D render shots.	"All of this would have been obvious in a 3D walkthrough. But they poured concrete first."
20-27s	Avatar direct to camera. Split screen: blueprint vs render.	"What if you could walk through every room, test every decision, before spending a single dollar on construction?"
27-30s	Rendimension logo + CTA. Dark background.	"See it before you risk it. Link in bio."

VIDEO AD 2: "Developer A vs Developer B" (25 seconds)

TIMING	VISUAL	SCRIPT (AVATAR SPEAKS)
0-5s	Avatar appears with two screens behind them.	"Two developers. Same city. Same budget. Only one got funded in 6 weeks."
5-12s	LEFT screen: boring PDF. RIGHT screen: stunning 3D render.	"Developer A emailed investors a 40-page PDF. Developer B sent them a 3D walkthrough of the entire project."
12-18s	Walkthrough footage or render slideshow of luxury interiors.	"Investors walked through every unit, every amenity, every finish. From their laptop."
18-22s	Avatar direct to camera. Confident, challenging tone.	"The developer with better visualization wins the deal. Every single time."
22-25s	Rendimension logo + CTA. Dark background.	"Don't be Developer A. Link in bio."

HEYGEN SETTINGS: Professional male/female avatar, business casual, solid or gradient background, confident tone, moderate pace. Add B-roll of renders during narration for visual variety.

6. TESTING & OPTIMIZATION PROTOCOL

14-DAY TESTING TIMELINE

DAYS	ACTION	DETAILS
Days 1-3	HANDS OFF	Facebook is learning. Do NOT touch anything. The algorithm needs data to optimize delivery. Expect high CPL and low CTR â this is normal.
Days 4-7	MONITOR ONLY	Check metrics daily but make NO changes. Look for: Which hook gets most clicks? Which ad has highest CTR? Any leads yet?
Day 7	FIRST CHECK	If a hook has CTR < 0.5% after 1,000+ impressions: KILL IT. Redistribute its $3/day to the remaining hooks. If all 3 hooks are above 0.5% CTR: keep running.
Days 8-14	OPTIMIZE	Kill underperforming individual ads within each hook. Single image vs carousel: which format wins? Start identifying the winning hook.
Day 14	DECISION DAY	One hook wins. Give it $6/day. Second hook gets $3/day (if above benchmark). Third hook: kill unless surprising data. Create 2 new ad variants for the winning hook.

WHEN TO KILL vs SCALE

METRIC	KILL (RED)	WATCH (YELLOW)	SCALE (GREEN)
CTR	< 0.5%	0.5% - 2%	> 2%
CPC	> $5	$2 - $5	< $2
CPL	> $150	$80 - $150	< $80
Frequency	> 5 with declining CTR	3 - 5	< 3
Relevance Score	< 4	4 - 7	> 7

BUDGET SCALING RULE: When a hook/ad hits GREEN on CPL for 7+ consecutive days, increase budget by 20% max. Wait 3-4 days between increases. Never increase more than 20% at once â it resets the learning phase.
